Die Wahlen in 90 Sekunden!

Warum soll ich wählen? Weil Jahr um Jahr hunderte Studierende sich in den verschiedensten Ecken der Hochschule engagieren und dein Studium verbessern. Wer will kann jederzeit mitmachen! Wer sich selbst nicht dazu berufen fühlt, hat einmal im Jahr die Chance mit minimalem Aufwand mitzuwirken und mitzuentscheiden, was im kommenden Jahr auf der Agenda steht: Durchs Wählen!

The elections explained in 90 seconds!

Why should I vote? Because every year hundreds of students do voluntary work in order to improve your studies. If you like, you can join in at any time! If you don’t, you still have the chance to cast your vote and decide upon which issues should be key in the next year.

How can I vote? You can either vote in person during the election week or do postal vote (https://asta.ac/wahl-brief). You will always have at least three votes to cast: Two for the academic self-administration. Between one and three votes for the student self-administration. What the individual elections are about is explained on the next pages in more detail.

Who should I vote? There really is no simple answer here. In this ‘Wahlzeitung’ you can find information about almost all candidates and groups which are up for election. Who of those you should vote for? Well, that’s left to you. Though we can ensure you that this year, once again, there are lots of motivated candidates for you to choose from.

Student Self-Administration

The German law regarding universities gives the student body the right to independently organise themselves and to elect their own representation. In this case the student body includes both all students immatriculated at RWTH Aachen university and different kinds of committees and structures. During their studies all students come into contact with some of the student body’s structures, e.g. student ticket, freshman week, study room information, cultural events like poetry slams, legal consultation, day care centers, … and many more projects every year.

All students may vote for the Student Parliament. The Foreigner Representation is elected by all immatriculated students at RWTH Aachen who are either foreign or stateless. Depending on your major you may also vote for your student council.

Many other posts and commissions are proposed and elected by the members of the Student Parliament. Thus your vote has an effect on a lot beyond the Student Parliament.

Student Parliament

The Student Parliament (SP) is the highest legislative body within the student body. It decides on the statue and on further supplementing rules that effect every student’s life in many aspects. An example is the ‘Beitragsordnung’ that defines the amount and usage of the fees you have to pay each term. The parliament can also, in order to address the public or some politicians, pass motions which represent the opinion of the student body on certain topics. Its most important task is the election and monitoring of the ASTA. Furthermore it can and does support student initiatives with subsidies and conditional guarantees.

ASTA

The Student Union (ASTA) is the highest executive body within the student body. It represents the students’ interests towards the university, the federal state of North Rhine-Westphalia, and the general public. Furthermore, its responsibilities include the administration of the budget of the student body, advising services on social and student-relevant topics, organisation of cultural events, and political education.

Some select examples of the ASTA’s services are: Notarisation, free legal advice for students, refund of the student ticket. Additionally the ASTA supports student initiatives with their formation and with networking. It is also responsible for negotiating contracts, such as the one for the semester ticket, on behalf of the Student Parliament.

Foreigner Representation

The Foreigner Representation (AV) is an additional body similar to the Student Parliament. It is elected by all immatriculated students at RWTH Aachen who are either foreign or stateless. Its purpose is the representation of non-German students and their interest within and beyond the university. Its most important task is the election and monitoring of the Foreigner Representation Office.

The Foreigner Representation Office is often used interchangeably with the Foreigner Representation. Therefore the German abbreviation ‘AV’ is the same. Legally speaking the Office is an executive body responsible for all foreign or stateless students with offers, for example: Legal advice regarding aliens law, language courses and other trainings.

Student Councils

A student council (‘Fachschaft’) is a subset of all students studying the same or one of several connected subjects. Each student council represents the subject-specific interests of its students, organises the freshmen week, supports the student representative in various committees (like the examinations board) and advises its students. Lots of student councils furthermore offer services such as access to practise exams from previous years or bargain deals by bulk-buying subject-specific study materials (gowns, stethoscopes, craft materials, …).

Each student council is a bit different. Only some are elected together with the Student Parliament during the election week. This year the student council representatives for civil engineering, mechanical engineering, earth sciences and resource management, economics and medicine will be elected together with the student parliament in the election week. For further information it’s best to consult the website of your ‘Fachschaft’ or to take a look at the student council’s applicant’s page a bit further back.
Academic Self-Administration

Generally speaking, in Germany universities administer themselves. Each state has a legal framework. State governments and university administrations regularly meet up to formulate common objectives. Everything else is decided locally by the university members in many different committees. In all parts of the academic self-administration four groups are normally represented: professors, scientific staff, non-scientific staff and students. In almost all cases the group of the professors holds the absolute majority.

The senat elects the rectorate and decides on many different overarching regulations. This includes the site rules and the framework for exam regulations.

For every faculty there is also the faculty council. The faculty councils elect the deans and decide on regulations local to their faculty. Among those are the individual exam regulations for all of RWTH’s study programs. They define requirements for admission, structure and examination details.

The students you elect into the senat and the faculty councils in turn elect the student representatives in many more commissions like the examination boards.

Frequently Asked Questions (FAQ)

Question: Academic self-administration, student self-administration, what is all this?
Answer: Briefly said: The academic self-administration is the central administration of our university. Here students are allowed to participate in decisions but are not allowed to decide on their own, e.g. on exam regulations. Student self-administration includes all decisions the student body and its representatives (all students) can make on their own, e.g. everything regarding the student ticket.

Question: Why would I care?
Answer: Some of the things, which were adjusted recently, are: Registration periods for exams, regulations on medical certificates if you miss your exam, enrolment, free attempts for exams, structure and content of many study programs.

In case you are not only enrolled to have a student ticket, you are in touch with academic committees with each class and exam you take.

Question: Is it even possible for students to make a difference if the professors have the majority of votes?
Answer: In Aachen the student representatives are eminently respected by professors and university employees. Their voices are listened to and taken seriously. In case of the senat, if the students are overruled, it is their right to veto on decisions. Additionally decisions that directly affect students (like exam regulations) usually have to pass commissions where students have half of votes.

Allgemeine Fachschaftsliste
List 1 | Näher dran!

As the Allgemeine Fachschaftsliste (AlFa), we have been representing the interests of students in (AStA) since 1971 - your interests!

Our members are dedicated students who are active in student councils, re-party affiliation and initiatives. The program of the AlFa is independent of political residences and initiatives. The program of the AlFa is independent of political party affiliation and tailored to the needs of students. We regularly ask students what their wishes are and how we can improve university life. Our main goal is to advance student life and involve you in it! How do we do that? With experience and enthusiasm. We advocate for your interests when interacting with the university and the faculties. We know how to address your issues and solve them.

For the thirteenth year in a row, the chairperson of your AStA and the head of the Department for Education and University Communication are appointed from our party. Likewise, the head of the Department of Finance and Organization, the head of the Department of Culture, the head of the Department of Social Affairs, many of the project managers, as well as the president of the Student Parliament are from our ranks. During the Corona pandemic they helped to secure the financial aid programs for students. In the coming year, we would like to continue to help shape the life, learning and working at RWTH and to commit ourselves to sustainable development and a broad range of cultural offerings.

Your vote is important to us!

For all these reasons, vote for the AlFa from June 20, 2022 to June 24, 2022!

Engagement - powered by AlFa

Student life is only possible through the commitment of other students. Whether in student councils, student initiatives, the ASTA or other bodies. This readiness to commit oneself in addition to their studies is rarely acknowledged by the RWTH. As a result of the Corona pandemic, not only cultural events but also student involvement has come to a halt. Therefore, we are calling for an increased support of volunteering by the RWTH. This includes rooms, counseling on and around volunteering, as well as recognition, appreciation, and certification of volunteer work.

The workload of students in the ASTA has increased in recent years. Therefore, we as AlFa have suggested to start a process to revise the structures of the ASTA, so that engagement remains attractive, as well as addressing structural issues.

For the AlFa: Joshua Derbitz & Marie-Theres Tschauner

Sustainability in AlFa-Green

Sustainability at the RWTH is essential to ensuring that the student body and the university are prepared for the future. The continuation of the car-free Tempelgraben and the implementation of the survey on student mobility, which will serve as the foundation for future negotiations with the transport companies, are steps towards more sustainable forms of transport and mobility. The current situation of bicycle access is not ideal and needs constant expansion, especially in regard to the important connection between Campus Mitte and Melaten. These are the positions that we represent in the mobility committee and in the student parliament. Our cafeterias ensure a cheap supply of food for many students, a position we want to secure in the future. The expansion of vegetarian and vegan options is an important step to enable all students to have a cheap lunch. In the future, the food used should also be in line with the sustainability initiative of RWTH and ASTA. In this context, we would like to continue to push for discussions with those responsible in order to improve the supply of sustainable, fair and healthy food for students, while keeping prices within the range of affordability.

In the long term, we want to work towards making the campus greener and to fundamentally change the way we understand outdoor spaces. A welcoming campus involves more than a few benches and flowerbeds. We need a combination of amenities and functionality. In addition to more tables where people can engage in meaningful learning outside when the weather is good, we want to add modern elements that accommodate a hybrid learning experience. This is to be achieved through silence boxes as part of a modern learning landscape. To increase the quality of stay, we would like to advocate not only for more water dispensers indoors but additionally for the option of free drinking water outdoors.

For the AlFa: Orpha Fiedler & Ernst Steller

Financial (In)dependence

The financial situation of students has steadily worsened in recent years due to the pandemic and increasing energy prices. The number of students receiving BAföG has been declining for years and is currently at about 11%, which is why we support the „BAföG50“ initiative to ensure broader access. We as the AlFa also support the establishment of a parent-independent BAföG, which supports students in need of assistance without age limits and strict orientation towards the standard period of study.

The number of students facing financial difficulties has persisted for years. Therefore, we continue to support the ASTA’s social loans in cooperation with proRWTH and welcome the expansion of the ASTA’s eligibility criteria. Additionally, we believe that price increases for the cafeteria and student dormitories should not be passed on to the students in their entirety, and have passed a decision to reduce the semester fee for one semester in the student parliament. Lastly, we believe that the stu-
Student body needs an expansive consultation network that supports students in dealing with various issues. We are committed to maintaining the consultation services of the AStA and the AV, as well as the free legal consultations.

For the AlFa: Ole Lee & Maximilian Plenge

Shaping Education

University education faced significant challenges during the online semesters for both students and faculty, but there are a number of key practices that can continue to be used after the return to in-person teaching. Offering hybrid courses allows students to participate and prepare for exams regardless of their location. The continuation of this line of thinking is the acknowledgement of the equivalence of both in-person and virtual classes for events with compulsory attendance. Thus, the progression of studying would no longer be dependent on the health of students. We aim to achieve this goal through the AlFa’s ongoing engagement throughout the university where we are committed to strengthening the interdisciplinary content of degree programs in order to meet the aspirations of university education in its entirety.

The deadline for withdrawing from exams was reduced to 24 hours during the pandemic, which has allowed students to better plan for exams and study time. This arrangement is expected to continue in the future.

For the AlFa: Lukas Schnelle & Maike Schäfer

Communication and Digitalization

The growing need to counsel students regarding exam-related issues has increased due to the constantly changing regulations and cannot be fully met by the RWTH’s mentors and advisors. Thus, the student body, especially the faculty student councils, had to take over tasks from the RWTH in addition to their studies. This must be remedied by expanding and significantly improving the funding of the RWTH’s counseling services. The advisory services partially provide students with inaccurate information, which must be prevented by improving the training of the advisory services. Teaching at RWTH is increasingly provided by student employees, whose funding is not fully secured. We therefore strongly stand for securing and appropriately paying the student workers.

Study rooms have been available in too small numbers for a long time. The AlFa advocates for the creation of student workspaces during the planning of new buildings as well as the opening of unused spaces in order to remedy the shortage. To this end, we have conducted an audit within the AStA in order to make ideal use of the available spaces.

For the AlFa: Nina Dolfen & Ernst Steller

An international Place to Be

International students represent an important part of the culturally-diverse and multifaceted student body, but are not adequately considered in university administration. They are not being considered in the day-to-day operations, which is why we demand the introduction of free German courses to put them on an equal footing with... other language and writing courses. The documents required for studying are only published in German by the RWTH, which makes it difficult for international students to exercise their rights, a situation which must be remedied by translating the module catalogs and exam regulations into English by default. These translations must be legally equivalent to the German documents in order to prevent misunderstandings. The General Exam Regulations and the legal consultations are already offered in English by the ASTA, a service demonstrating what must be implemented university-wide.

Beating the Covid-Blues with Student Culture

At last, we finally have the opportunity to organize cultural events again. We are proud of the diverse cultural events which include a number of summer music events, poetry slams, and PowerPoint karaoke. We are especially excited to bring back the Campus Festival after a two-year hiatus. We also remain committed to creating a vibrant gathering place of student engagement and culture on the Templergraben. In the medium term, we are in the process of building a hut on the Platanenplatz, which can be used for events organized by committed students, initiatives and student councils and should simplify the organization and realization of such events in various aspects. To beautify the campus, we were already able to set up the first RWTH bookcase opposite the Super C last year and turn the wall at the Audimax into a graffiti wall to be freely designed. You can look forward to the results of further art projects at CARL or Semin90. Our broad know-how and good contacts to the city of Aachen, the university and the cultural scene of Aachen enable us not only to realize diverse events but also use our knowledge and our contacts to support other parts of the engaged student body to create both art and cultural opportunities.

Green issues. Concrete ideas.

Our issues

It’s that time again: university elections

As Green university group, we focus on sustainability and equality for all students. Our goal is to create a climate-friendly campus at RWTH just as making life at our university as pleasant as possible. Moreover, we make participation possible for EVERYONE in everyday university life. We, therefore, take a clear position against any form of discrimination!

In our decisions, constructive cooperation is extremely vital - e.g. through exchange with other groups, those affected and other stakeholders. As a matter of principle, we make decisions democratically, so that everyone can participate equally. Sustainability, climate protection and social justice are core values of our group that are taken into account in every decision.

For us, university life goes far beyond just studying. Thus, we advocate for the possibility of making new social contacts during the period of study, for instance, at cultural events, involvement in self-initiatives, but also in study groups. To accomplish our goals, we are also active at the city level and talk to the relevant actors because we see the student body as part of the city of Aachen.

All in all, we are an open and diverse group that welcomes every new member and interested person, and enjoys discussing and implementing projects together.

Sustainable RWTH

In its sustainability mission statement, which we also worked on, RWTH has committed to the 1.5° target and climate neutrality by 2030. As one of the first measures, RWTH is finally switching to green electricity. However, the path to climate neutrality is still long: pv systems on university buildings, greening of facades and the switch to sustainable fuels are just some of the measures that must finally be pursued consistently and implemented.

Sustainability must also play a greater role in teaching in the future! We demand that sustainability should be incorporated into all curricula - the Leonardo project has already shown possible formats. Only through teaching that reflects the change in the reality of life, students can remain competitive in the long term.

Housing and refectory: social and sustainable!

The rising food prices have now also reached the refectory. We are committed to ensuring that food remains affordable for all students in the future. We also demand a transparent pricing policy from the Studierendenwerk that considers all options - including, for example, adjusting the menus to reduce costs. Overall, we advocate for a broader vegetarian and vegan offer.

To accomplish more affordable housing, there is also an urgent need in expanding and renovating the student halls of residence.

University sports: stays!

Due to various construction projects, the university sports facilities at Königshügel will be severely affected in the next few years and the offer will be reduced permanently. For us it is clear that this is unacceptable! Appropriate compensation must be made for the lost spaces during the construction phase and in the long term, solutions must be found for an overdue expansion of the sports offer. It is not acceptable that the state implements the cheapest plan instead of the one that preserves and enables the most sports facilities. We have already been in talks with actors at the city level and will continue to represent our position and advocate for university sports.

In general, student representatives need to be more involved in decisions made by the city.

Blended learning, more learning spaces!

We continue to advocate for more learning spaces and call for more outdoor learning spaces. We welcome the broad return to face-to-face teaching but for us it is still important that digital teaching and learning material such as recordings of lectures continue to be made available online. Where possible, the offer of both face-to-face and online participation in courses should also be maintained, especially regarding the fact that the materials are already available in many cases. Due to this, it only creates minimal effort for the lecturers but provides a significant improvement in teaching, more flexibility for students and consideration for all those who feel more comfortable participating in courses outside the university.

Equality now!

We actively campaign for equality for all people at RWTH. Thus, we call on RWTH to create further structures for a greater representation of all genders in all areas at RWTH. Furthermore, we demand a more critical re-appraisal of the history of RWTH and modern teaching that reflects the diversity of society and people, so that all people feel represented! The group of students should be included in the General Equal Treatment Act! We want to ensure that the university but also the events of the AStA become a safer space where all people feel comfortable. To achieve this, we support anti-racism work, awareness and equality.

Good public transport, safe cycle paths!

Good and safe access to the university and many other places in Aachen is essential for successful studies. Public transport must be useful and accessible for everyone, the network and frequency must be expanded further and night buses should also operate during the week. Footpaths and cycle paths must be wide, safe and comfortable, the cycling resolution (Radentscheid) must also be implemented and we demand more covered bicycle parking spaces. The car-free Templergraben enables cultural events and brings the city and student body together. For us it is clear: Templergraben remains car-free!
Digital policy

The principle of data economy must also be observed by the university. Digital tools were a great help during the pandemic, but the use of some software entailed far too confusing data protection regulations. People who value the protection of their data should not be excluded.

We welcome the OpenSource culture in large parts of the RWTH and support OpenData and OpenAccess as important efforts on the way to a science that benefits everyone and in which knowledge is freely accessible to all.

We meet every Tuesday at 19:00 and are always happy to welcome new people who want to get involved. If you’d like to drop by or learn more about us, text us here!

Vote GHG by June 24!
We, the Liberal University Group Aachen, are committed to the basic values of freedom, self-determination, and tolerance and are committed to an open and lively body of students. All students should have the opportunity to lay out and choose their studies according to their own needs and wishes.

We are an association of students of different disciplines with a liberal attitude and have the goal to represent you pragmatically. This means, above all, that we act rationally with regard to university, higher education policy and other political discussions.

It is important to us that the ASTA offers a good, efficient and cost-effective service for all students.

Do you have questions, wishes or criticism? You would like to get to know us?

Feel free to get in touch and find out more on Instagram or our website. Unfortunately, four pages are not enough to give you an idea of our many ideas and wishes, so we have limited ourselves to a few points that are especially important to us. The full program can be found here: lhg-aachen.de/wahl
What we stand for

Finances

Studying is often connected with individual financial restrictions. Because of that, we want to make sure that the financial resources of the General Student Committee (AStA) are spent responsibly. We will not support any ill-considered increases of the semester fee and we want to make sure your money is spent responsibly!

We want to use our voice at RWTH to promote parent-independent BAföG in Germany. In this regard, our university has to take a clear position!

International

The RWTH has an international reputation and consequently attracts many students from other countries. Of course, the university has to facilitate this. Therefore, we demand an expansion of English-language cultural and political events on campus which, in particular, the cultural department of the General Student Committee (AStA) is responsible for.

As a multicultural list, we also promote stronger cultural coexistence. We consider an annual English-language ceremony for cultural exchange to be a first step in this direction. International students are also dependent on secure sources of income. Therefore, the RWTH must expand on its offer of English-language work & student assistant positions!

Teaching

The core objective of any student representation must always be to limit the study load. For many students, however, extra obligations make up a sizable proportion of overall work. Therefore, the LHG is decidedly against further university-wide requirement modules without credits. For us mandatory work without appropriate recognition is unacceptable!

Most students at some point do not feel sufficiently prepared for some exam. That is why we support more flexible periods for registration and deregistration (later than three days before).

People with a wide range of interests also want to continue their education outside of their own field of study. That is why we advocate the promotion of interdisciplinary modules and demand simplified registration procedures for courses outside the subject area. In order to improve sustainable productivity, time off is of great importance. The LHG would therefore like to establish full semester breaks without exams at RWTH.

To ensure that at-risk groups and students in quarantine are not excluded from teaching or that it is made easier on the part of the university to take care of one’s child at home while teaching, we advocate the retention and expansion of hybrid teaching.

The central deadline for handing in homework is causing great inflexibility in exam planning at some faculties. We therefore demand its abolition and its replacement by a regulation that allows students to use their entire lecture-free time for writing term papers.
In order to reduce the financial burden of studying and at the same time enable RWTH to make a contribution to sustainability, we demand the abolition of the submission of term papers in paper form!

Digitization

In the last semesters, many digital event recordings have been created. We think it is wrong not to make these recordings available to students in the future. RWTH should create a (central) video platform with all useful recordings of previous semesters!

In the first semesters, especially the use of RWTHonline may overwhelm new students. Therefore, we demand introductory guides and tutorials that can be accessed via RWTHonline and the RWTHApp. Furthermore, the IT Center should offer an annual introductory event for first-semester students to teach them the basic functions.

The RWTHApp offers a variety of options and ensures that important information can be accessed centrally. For this reason, among others, we are committed to expanding the functions of the RWTHApp.

Social Affairs & Residence Halls

In our view, an evaluation of the capacities of the childcare offer at RWTH is necessary in order to create an adequate offer for students with children.

We welcome the necessary renovations of dormitories and are committed to protecting your interests. Renovations should therefore be implemented in close communication with the dormitory councils.

Furthermore, parking spaces at the Studierendenwerk dormitories are relatively expensive. Because of this, we demand fair pricing!

University sports

So that students no longer have to permanently press the “refresh” button during the lecture period to obtain a slot in university sports, we demand the introduction of a lottery procedure for the allocation of places. The time inflexibility of the current procedure is no longer acceptable!

In our opinion, the University Sports Center (HSZ) must expand its cooperation with local sports clubs in Aachen. This can help to attract new and especially qualified coaches to RWTH. In addition, the capacities of university sports can be expanded in this way.

The LHG is committed to launching a university-wide demand survey to determine which additional sports courses and types are desired by you at RWTH.

We want to advocate for the expansion of an eSports offering at RWTH.

Mensa & Campus

To make it possible to enjoy dinner on campus in the future, we demand an extension of the opening hours of the Mensa Academica.

The Mensa offer should be attractive for everyone. Therefore, we continue to advocate for a wide range of options that must also take into account vegetarians, vegans and people with allergies.

Students having to bring their own beer to Mensa must stop! The LHG advocates the sale of beer in the Mensa.

In order to enable more flexible learning on campus, the LHG advocates that the opening hours of the libraries and the central learning rooms be extended. To this end, the service hours of the library must also be extended. In our opinion, a good learning infrastructure should include permanent availability of borrowable literature!

Sustainability & Mobility

For the improvement of bicycle traffic, we demand an expansion of bicycle parking spaces at the university buildings. To increase comfort and security, these should be covered and (camera-) secured!

Mobility options are to be guaranteed for all students regardless of their chosen means of transportation! Therefore, accessibility by car must be ensured and existing parking spaces must be offered at reasonable prices.

For better climate and environmental protection, we demand from the RWTH that energy efficiency in particular is increased when buildings are extended and renovated. In addition, we want to determine which university premises are heated or air-conditioned outside operating hours!

A campus needs many green spaces for recreation to feel alive! That is why we support projects for campus greening. In our opinion, a feasibility study should be carried out for further open spaces on campus and subsequently a greening concept should be developed with the involvement of the students.

We are open to the introduction of a voluntary sustainability module. However, a university-wide establishment requires a well thought-out concept. We would be happy to participate in this. We will reject another module without credits though as an additional study burden.
About Campus For Future Aachen

Campus For Future Aachen is a university policy group of students at RWTH Aachen University. Our goal is to make the university more sustainable and thus more fit for the future. To this end, we would like to transform RWTH in the student parliament and, among other things, act as a mouthpiece for the many initiatives that are involved in the area of sustainability.

We - among others - are prospective biologists, computer scientists and environmental scientists. With great motivation and commitment, we would like to make the RWTH realize its responsibility as a global player and put it into practice.

In doing so, we pursue an interdisciplinary understanding of sustainability: For us, this means considering ecological, social and economic aspects together.

Sounds good? Then choose Campus For Future!

Buildings

Important area of climate neutrality is the building sector. RWTH should advocate for sustainable construction and renovation of the university buildings to enable heating with exclusively renewable energies, to use the potential for solar energy and to green the facades.

Energy

Together with Students For Future, a resolution for green electricity was developed and unanimously approved in the student parliament. Since then, the university has created a concrete plan to purchase green electricity from 2023. This could finally save up to €4 million in annual environmental impact costs! We continue to advocate for real green electricity. Even though this is an effective and important step, it only concerns one third of the RWTH’s CO2 emissions. That is why we also advocate a switch to eco-heating. By 2025, the university must be climate neutral!

Mobility

To ensure that you won’t suffer more from your way to university by bike than from HöMa, we advocate for safe bike lanes in Aachen. And when it rains, we should be able to rely on dependable and free public transport.

Greening

A green campus looks beautiful and also promotes Aachen’s biodiversity. After all, it is not only students who meet on green spaces, but also insects. In concrete terms, this means a systematic program for green roofs and unsealing of RWTH areas. Where unsealing is not possible, raised beds bring a touch of nature to the campus.

Transparency in third-party funding

How independent are our research and teaching actually? RWTH is the university with the most third-party funding in Germany. Where does this funding come from? Let’s finally create transparency and see who pays for our studies!

Drinking water access on campus

To save both costs and plastic, we advocate for drinking water facilities on university campuses.
Social and Teaching

Places for encounters
In order to promote togetherness between students, we would like to create new places for encounters as well as maintain and expand those that already exist. That’s why, among other things, we are committed to ensuring that Templergraben remains car-free.

Anti-bias and psychological support
In terms of social sustainability, we are organizing so-called anti-bias trainings, which serve to reduce prejudice and will be open to all students. This goes hand in hand with the fact that we want to promote anti-discrimination work at the university and offer safe spaces to marginalized groups. Following on from this, psychosocial support at RWTH should also be expanded.

Modules
Want to box? Neither do we. Unfortunately, you have to fight to get credit for the Leonardo project in almost all degree programs. We are committed to expanding the Leonardo project (and not at the expense of volunteers) while making it easily creditable in more degree programs. In the future, we want ecological, social and economic sustainability to be a mandatory part of all courses of study!

Credits for initiatives
So that you no longer have to choose between focusing on your studies or getting involved in an initiative, we want to ensure that this very involvement is simplified and promoted through creditability in your studies. So that you no longer have to choose between focusing on your studies or getting involved in an initiative, we want to ensure that this very involvement is simplified and promoted through creditability in your studies.
Sustainable investment
While the university is slowly reducing its emissions, banks continue to finance oil and gas projects worldwide with RWTH money. Therefore, we call for RWTH accounts to be switched to an ethical bank that invests sustainably.

Mensa
Nothing but salad and fries? We call for an expansion of meat-free dishes. This will make dining halls and cafeterias more attractive to vegetarian and vegan students. In addition, our food should reach us through ecological and social supply chains. Less packaging and avoiding disposable products further reduce the carbon footprint of meals. And to avoid trash as well as food waste, we call for a concept that more accurately plans the quantities needed in dining halls.

Structures
Who does what? For a transformation of the university towards more sustainability, it is essential to anchor this process in the university structures and to provide the necessary people power for it. A key problem is the lack of capacity that impedes sustainability processes. That is why we are calling for more positions in the sustainability staff unit and in other university bodies. Because according to current trends, in four years our CO2 budget will be depleted. So let’s start now! Another important structure for sustainable transformation is an official certification of the university to let external parties observe the ongoing change.

Our self-conception

Die Like.SDS (Socialist-Democratic Students Association) is a nation-wide organized, anti-capitalist organization. We advocate for a social and sustainable university and therefore demand:

- a civil and a sustainability clause for a peaceful and sustainable university
- the phasing out of coal-fired power and cooperations with coal companies
- interdisciplinary courses on sustainability
- a social use of the students contributions
- a minimum wage of €16.00 for student employees
- more opportunities for student participation

We reject the university’s allegiance with economic interests. The university must be a place of free and self-determined teaching, without following the mechanisms of the market!

We reject the separation of university and general politics, since we see the processes at the university in direct connection with the general social and political developments. We want to revive the student protest culture and link it with struggles for more democracy, climate protection, social justice and against any kind of discrimination. This is why we are involved in numerous alliances.

We regularly organize events for political education and look forward to your visit!

Stand up for your interests!

We meet at Semi90 at Templergraben 90, room SE003 every Wednesday at 6 p.m. in the summer semester of 2022. Everyone can participate - contact us!
Sustainability

Climate is the issue of the century and an inherently social one. If we want to reach our climate goals we need to act radically and immediately. The RWTH claims to be an „Exzellenzuniversität“, but lags behind many other universities in terms of sustainability. That needs to change! Unfortunately, the past has shown that even in the Stupa sustainability issues do not find majorities. Therefore, the only answer can only be a strong left in the student parliament! Climate justice is only possible with left policies.

We demand

- Sustainable purchasing of all new acquisitions
- Charging stations for electric bikes, cars and smartphones
- Expansion of solar cells and greening of facades and roofs
- Larger number of sustainable offers in the cafeteria more organic, more vegan, more fairness
- A critical examination of animal experimentation as a component of teaching
- Energy for the university to be purchased locally and without coal-fired power generation

Teaching

We are against a university that dedicates itself solely to training for the labor market and turns studying into a work marathon in the spirit of the meritocracy. Completely neglected amidst all the training for the job market is the teaching of critical science.

We demand

- No compulsory attendance
- Free attempt regulation for all students
- A transparent listing of third-party funds
- Alternative event directory for events organized by students
- More interdisciplinary lectures and courses
- Teaching abortion
- Digital follow-up of courses must be made possible
- Possibility to borrow hardware
- Gender specific medical research

Equality

We demand an anti-fascist, anti-racist, anti-classist, feminist and emancipatory university. Nazis have no place at the RWTH! We demand the active fight against all kinds of discrimination, such as homophobia, sexism and racism. We fight against tuition fees - no matter for whom and for the ensuring that nobody has to work besides studying.

We demand

- Staff office for students without academic parents
- Social use of student fees
- More student housing and better maintenance of existing dormitories
- University access for all refugees
- Semester ticket for all employees
- Possibility to take along people on semester ticket
- A critical examination of animal experimentation as a component of teaching
- Energy for the university to be purchased locally and without coal-fired power generation

We are against a university that dedicates itself solely to training for the labor market and turns studying into a work marathon in the spirit of the meritocracy. Completely neglected amidst all the training for the job market is the teaching of critical science.
Campus

We usually spend a large part of our everyday life on campus. Therefore it has a major influence on how comfortable people feel at RWTH.

We want an inviting, barrier-free and green campus, and we want to give students the opportunity to play an active role in shaping it.

We demand

- Make the campus free of advertising
- Improve accessibility for people using wheelchairs
- Silent rooms for people who experience sensory overload
- Better access for people with visual impairments
- Accessibility office
- Bicycle parking that is protected from the weather
- More study spaces, including on weekends
- Gender-neutral restrooms
- Period products in all restrooms

TV Stud / Study and work

Many students are employed as student workers and often do not know their employment rights. As a result, they do not use their vacation entitlement and do not receive sick pay. Furthermore, they are in particularly precarious employment relationships due to their frequent dependence on professors and permanent fixed-term contracts. A motion of ours on this topic has already been approved by the student parliament.

We demand

- A close and constant cooperation between AStA, staff representation, staff council and trade unions.
- A campaign by the future AStA to raise awareness on the topic of labor law.
- The support of the TVStud campaign and its demand that student employees finally be included in the collective agreement of the federal states (TV-L)

Beyond the Student Parliament

We are not only active during election week. For example, at the beginning of the winter semester, the critical introduction weeks take place. We recently organized this together with Students for Future, Seebrücke and Queerreferat.

We are also active in various alliances. Among others, we are part of the Aachener Bündnis für ein Ende der Gewalt (Aachen Alliance for an End to Violence), which campaigns locally against sexism and organizes the feminist demonstration on March 8. We participate in the resistance in Lützerath and directly here at the Fridays For Future movement in Aachen.

Funding

Die Linke.SDS is an independent political university group. Financially, we rely on nationwide SDS membership dues as well as grants from the party „Die Linke“ at the district, state, and national levels.

The latter in turn finances itself from membership fees and mandate contributions of their respective elected representatives.

Dear Students,

the RCDS combines local competence with a unique global network of likeminded groups throughout Germany. This year the RCDS Aachen presents you 17 candidates for student parliament.

We believe in a conservative Parliament free of ideological beliefs and practices. We used the last legislative period to strengthen your Voice in the election of representatives and to protect your Wallet from unnecessary spending.

As part of the biggest student network in Germany we fight for your cause on a local and nationwide level. We use our unique network to make your voice heard even outside of Aachen!

This year we present you a program which aims to better your daily life and your time at the RWTH Aachen.

To further represent your interests, we need your Vote!

Your RCDS-Team 2022
No double taxation of the student body – no price increase in the student cafeteria

The continuing price development is a particularly heavy burden on students. Even without the long-term effects of the corona pandemic and the effects of the Russian attack on Ukraine, the student’s wallet is getting tighter and tighter. But while the federal government puts together rescue packages for various social groups, students are always left out - whether it’s the “Energiegeld” or the fuel discount. In these times, students are increasingly dependent on a cheap cafeteria. The announced increase in lunch prices for students, despite the parallel increase of the social contribution, is a double burden on all of us. For this reason, we demand that the planned price increase in the canteen for students for all vegetarian products and the classic lunch be reversed.

No one is above the law: For an independent law faculty

Whether mining law, patent law, private law or construction and planning law - there are lectures on national and international law in countless curricula. Insight into a subject-specific legal perspective is essential for a modern academic. Nevertheless, in many departments, law teachers are fighting for their place in the curriculum and regularly have to make do with cuts. An independent law faculty not only gives professors a stronger voice in academic self-administration, but also offers prospective students a broader and more varied range of courses. We therefore demand that the existing potential be fully exploited and that the range of courses at our university be expanded to include an independent law faculty. This not only brings a breath of fresh air to the courses offered at RWTH, but also ensures a more diverse student body.

For a clean and sustainable campus

Many students make their individual contribution every day to make the world a little more sustainable. The recycling of waste is one of the most accessible measures with which we can all contribute to limiting the consumption of raw materials. However, as soon as we enter the campus, this commitment is made more difficult by the backward structures of our university. We therefore call on the RWTH to contribute to protecting the environment and to come closer to reaching the climate goal. To this end, we want to introduce a modern recycling-system across the entire campus, which will enable quadruple recycling. It should be possible to differentiate between plastic, paper, residual waste and organic waste. With the correct separation of residual waste and packaging, we make an important contribution to the environment and the climate.
More bang for your buck – For a transparent and slim service oriented AStA

For years, members of the AStA have been complaining about being overloaded and overworked. But instead of transparently approaching a fundamental reform of the AStA with the involvement of the student body, more and more money is being demanded for more positions. This is particularly negative when representatives of the AStA refuse to disclose the individual salaries and tasks of their 82 project managers during budget debates. Such a lack of transparency regarding the means of the student body is absolutely unacceptable. Not only do our wallets suffer, but also essential services, since there is no room for more staff in the social department. The RCDS Aachen therefore calls for a transparent discussion of the structure and the associated budgetary resources of the AStA as well as a reform of the AStA with more individual services for students and fewer political-ideological self-realization projects.

Against a reduction in the university sports Program

The university sports area on Königshügel is the linchpin of the student sports programme. Hundreds of students use the sports programs offered in the halls every day, or keep fit on the running track and in the soccer cages. We reacted with great horror to the plans of the RWTH to limit and finally shorten this sports programme for another parking garage and new chemical building for years. The RCDS Aachen is firmly opposed to any reduction in university sports, whether temporary or permanent.

No card chaos – Modern technology for a modern university

The RCDS stands for modernization and digitization. We have already campaigned for this in the past. The past online semesters have shown what is possible in the field of teaching. But now we also want to advance everyday life digitally and therefore demand a digital semester ticket. Our concrete proposal for implementation would be a QR code, which is automatically transferred to the DB-App. In addition, using the example of the University of Cologne and many other universities in Germany, we are calling for the BlueCard and the semester ticket to be combined. This is how we want to put an end to the card chaos.

For a comprehensive range of language courses, not only on the lowest level

The language courses offered by the university have enjoyed great popularity among the student body for years. Not only is it a cornerstone of education in many courses, it also represents a good opportunity for many students to broaden their linguistic horizons before semesters abroad, internships or just for the personal experience. Unfortunately, the internationally widely spoken languages in particular suffer from a big amount of interest, which can not covered by the current portfolio. The RWTH is not willing to provide the necessary funds for a second course, especially on the B2 level. There is an urgent need to catch up here! The RCDS is therefore demanding more money for the teachers of the popular languages, so that the language courses can really be used by all students.

Better teaching

The RWTH has abolished the free trial regulation this semester and last semester it was also only available for Bachelor students. But the burden has not gone away, students still suffer from the pandemic but also from mental and chronic illnesses or financial difficulties. Therefore, we demand an end to the limited exam attempts towards a study without constraints, the final fail should be abolished!

The standard period of study must also be suspended in order to enable a self-determined course of study. This also includes the abolition of compulsory attendance in all areas of university teaching. Not only does this make access to academic education unnecessarily difficult, but the benefit of compulsory attendance is also questionable.

Good teaching also requires good organisation and planning. Lecturers who change their timetables at short notice or modules for which you only find out the dates a few days before they start make studying difficult, especially for those who work alongside their studies, look after children, care for relatives or are otherwise involved.

Good teaching also means adequate material and staff. Lectures where lecture halls are overcrowded and students have to sit on the stairs are not uncommon. There are also far too few teaching staff.

We demand:

- Study without constraints: an end to limited examination attempts, compulsory attendance and standard study times.
- Adequate equipment: more staff in teaching and rooms that do justice to the 21st century.
- Critical teaching: historical, ethical and social science modules for all degree programmes. Even those who study engineering, medicine or a natural science later bear social responsibility. It is important to learn from history and to be able to critically reflect on one’s own activities. In all subjects, anti-fascism and feminism must be basic consensus and considered in one’s own actions.
Living

Your own four walls, life between bed and desk. The pandemic has shown us once again how important a good flat is for successful studies. But affordable, please. We need more halls of residence, we need better halls of residence that meet the demands of our generation. To achieve this, new student housing must be created on vacant land - regardless of whether it belongs to the city, the state or the university. We are already campaigning for this in local and state politics.

We demand:
- More and cheaper housing
- Pre-emptive rights for student housing
- More free counselling services on housing and tenancy law
- Establishment of student emergency accommodation

Mensa

Getting potatoes with potatoes for lunch again? Eating in the refectory as a vegetarian or vegan is not easy to plan and, above all, not varied. We need more and more attractive meat-free dishes in all of the Studierendenwerk’s refectories. This is not only good for us students, but also for the environment and ensures more sustainability in our everyday student life.

We demand:
- Meatless, regional, seasonal must no longer remain just a slogan, it must become reality!

We demand:
- Expansion of vegetarian and vegan options in all student union canteens.
- Introduction of reusable cutlery for take-away food
- Reliable menus that are updated in case of changes
- Continuation of the "Freitisch" programme

Internationalisation

...is more than just meetings with representatives of other technical universities, more than just strategic partnerships. Internationalisation is lived every day on campus, in the intercultural exchange between us students, at events, in lectures. That’s why we also need everyday solutions to the problems that international students encounter at RWTH from the very beginning. Standing in the cold at night in front of the Foreigners’ Registration Office is unacceptable! Examination regulations without English translation are unacceptable! Think and live internationalisation in a new way!

University sports

...are part of studying. Sport is a healthy balance to a stressful day of studying and should therefore not be neglected. It shouldn’t matter how much money you have in your pocket. Free offers in the sports programme are important and must be reintroduced. Fitness with music? Yes. Fitness with music for free? Yes! (University) sports need space and we will lose this space for the next few years due to various construction sites around Königshügel. The offers will be scarcer and the waiting lists even longer. Without replacement space near Campus Mitte, the construction project means a complete collapse of university sports and we want to prevent this!

We demand:
- Prioritise the support of international students in the strategy of the RWTH.
- English translations of examination regulations and information material
- Expansion of the capacities of the Foreigners’ Office at Super C
Mobility

Getting to Melaten is a gamble with the current timetable. Even going somewhere spontaneously by bus in the evening without having to wait half an hour for the bus, a very rare occurrence. And then we are not even allowed to take the bike with us for later, when there are simply no buses running at all, let alone being allowed to take friends with us. Due to the limited mobility, participation in student life, which is just getting back to normal, is disrupted. We want mobility that makes it possible to spend time with friends in the park a little further away or in Aachen's only open-air swimming pool without having to travel home afterwards for ages in a bus that is far too warm.

The car-free Tempelgraben enhances the campus. We want more and more consistently controlled car-free zones in the city. In the long term, we are working towards a nationwide, free semester ticket!

We demand:

- Secure parking spaces for bicycles and scooters
- The expansion of sharing services
- More and better controlled car-free zones

We demand:

- Finally expand social and psychological counselling
- Hybrid teaching to make studying possible for all students
- BAFöG independent of parents as a full subsidy

Social RWTH

The pandemic has created new challenges around studying for all of us in recent years and increased existing problems. In many situations, good counselling can help solve these problems. That's why we want to expand and professionalise the ASTA's social counselling service with knowledgeable staff and draw more attention to these services. The demand for psychological counselling also increased significantly during the pandemic. The psychological counselling service at RWTH Aachen University was already overloaded beforehand. Too few staff should not be a reason for insufficient psychological support for students!

Corona has accelerated the digitalisation of teaching. Offering lectures only in the lecture hall again would be a step backwards and makes studying unnecessarily difficult, especially for students with a part-time job or children. Instead, we call for hybrid solutions. After several semesters in Zoom meetings, some of us are only now getting to know the social interaction at the university and we all have a lot of catching up to do in this and the coming semesters. In the StuPa, we therefore want to support initiatives like the BierTemp and events organised by the Eigeninitiativen. In recent years, we have worked actively with the social department of the ASTA to help students in need. For example, we have worked to ensure that the pot for social loans and for refunds of the mobility contribution due to social hardship is greatly increased. In addition, we helped make the proRWTH scholarship programme possible and pushed through the free table programme, which meant that students did not have to worry about food during the pandemic.

Because studying is better with us.
More on social aspects

We also helped facilitate the proRWTH scholarship programme and pushed through the „Freitisch“ programme, which meant students didn’t have to worry about food during the pandemic. High inflation is now tearing holes in the wallets of all students. We are therefore calling for a rethink of student financing, for example through a fundamental reform of BAföG. Through our political network, we campaign for you at both federal and state level.

Liveable campus

For us, a liveable campus means a place where all students feel comfortable. Where we respect each other, but also create space for the free development of ideas. A good place to learn and live. To achieve this, we want more green on campus, a technical university does not have to be a concrete block. There needs to be more quiet zones for learning and meeting, as has been created on Templergraben by banning cars, more of them. A liveable campus also offers the possibility to meet outside to study and that with benches and tables where you are not forced to buy something.

We demand:

• More greenery on campus
• More calm zones, like the Templergraben
• Learning spaces in the fresh air

Hello my fans! I'm Jan (16) and I'm pursuing a bachelor's degree in electrical engineering. I stand for transparency, communication, and social commitment, especially when it comes to chips, schnitzel, and beer. One of my goals this time around is to reintroduce triple schnitzel on Tuesday. I will enter the competition as the best candidate for VOLT. After you trusted me last year, I will give everything for you again this year!

List place 2: Oliver Breidenich

Hi, I'm Oli (about 42 years old) and I'm pursuing a master's degree in electrical engineering. I have been supporting students since I started studying. Communication with international students is especially important to me. Especially when it comes to food. Everyone should be able to enjoy fries - whether you're vegetarian, vegan or traditional. I love beer and as a humble student I only smoke cigars twice a week.

List place 3: Myrto Theodorou (female)

Please note: We are not the purple VOLT party!

We are much better! 😊🔥🔥
our SUCCESES

- French fries have been reintroduced in all restaurants since you supported our menu last year!
- The triple meal Schnitzel Tuesday (regular, vegetarian, vegan) exists for a certain period.
- On average, each VOLT member drank about 3.2 bottles of beer at Student Parliament meetings. We stand for consistency!
- We "put" the ASTA chair on this year.

After so many successes, we asked ourselves why we should continue at all. But when we looked at the canteen menu, we got sick and had to line up again. see for yourself:

We are open to changes!
Our PHILOSOPHY

We have long heard complaints about the designation "classic". Of course, this should not fail us because of our list which is why we are committed to officially rebranding it to "Classic"!

Your opinions are correct!

Should the sun rise stronger or weaker? You are okay which is why we are always open to all student suggestions on what you would like to hear performed live in the stupa. Just send us what you want us to say as an Insta message.

We are Augustinerbach!

Other student parliament listings may come up only for political reasons, but we are real students with real feelings. Our work relates to the constant confrontations between the student body and us in the Augustinerbacher's courtyard. With freedom slowly being recovered, it is only natural that we would like to continue expanding this exchange in the future!

Tensions are opportunities that we face openly and in a solution-oriented manner. Therefore, we are open to change in our social and university world. If the canteen loaned my article to the students, we certainly wouldn't say no!

We respect all status groups!

We also consider extinct animal species in the sustainable energy cycle. After all, millions of dinosaurs died for our oil! Our candidates also deal with extracurricular topics related to sustainability and conduct interviews with influencers (see image above)
The VOLT High Voltage Group makes its election promises long and sweet, because this is what our demands should look like:

Like french fries for schnitzel tuesday!

Like many of you, we’ve been keeping an eye on a selection of Schnitzel Tuesday side dishes for years. In general, potato products are very restricted in the menu, although it is a regional alternative to Italian pasta! Committed to sustainability, RWTH is unable to support local farmers and imports side dishes from all over the world via smelly container ships! 😨!

The VOLT High Voltage Group does not want to continue to accept this situation and, with your vote, is asking the Studierendenwerk to eliminate these unfavorable conditions as quickly as possible!

Why are there no FRIES?

V.i.S.d.P. Jan Lukas Schmitz
As the Internationale Liste, we are running to be elected for the 24th Ausländer*innenvertretung, the Representation of Foreign Students. Our goal is to reduce the number of potential problems that can arise while studying in a foreign country, striving to make the stay of internationals simpler. This extends to legal matters that may arise, as we are a reliable connection for students with the university, the municipalities, and the city of Aachen itself. We actively stand against discrimination, as we believe that every student has the right to be represented at the university, regardless of their background.

What We Have Done

In the past year the Internationale Liste advocated for a better booking system in the Foreigner’s Office, in order to provide international students a fair chance of renewing and applying for their respective residence permits or blue cards. In collaboration with ASTA, the Internationale Liste contributed in the past year to an online temporary booking system instead of the old system, where students had to stand in front of Super C for many hours to get an appointment. The Internationale Liste will continue to work and demand a better system, by keeping in constant communication with the university bodies and the city of Aachen.

Who are we?

We are your student representatives for the study programs Civil Engineering, Industrial Engineering/Construction, Environmental Engineering as well as Transport Engineering and Mobility.

This means that we represent your interests in committees and examination boards of the faculty and the university, and advise and help you with problems. In addition, we organize the annual O-week for freshmen, information events, parties such as the Schau am Bau, keep you up to date with BOB the Baukurier and much more.

Currently we are a mixed team of bachelor and master students from all of the study programs mentioned above. Thus, we cover the interests of all students and find the right expert for every topic.

We are always looking for your support!
If you want to get involved in the student council, too or just like to learn more about our work, come to our weekly student council meeting on Mondays at 6:30 pm!
You can find us in room 4 on the ground floor of the civil engineering building.

You can find more information about our activities on our website.

1. Tarek Mues (Mechanical Engineering Bachelor)
Hey Maschis, I’m Tarek and I study mechanical engineering in my sixth semester. I’ve been a member of the student council since the winter of 2020 and I’m currently here for you as the executive director. In order to be able to organize great events again next year, I would like to get involved in the FSV for you. I am looking forward to your support!

2. Felix Drube (Wirt.-Ing.-MB Bachelor)
Hi, I was a speaker for WirtIng for the period 20/21 and since then I am active in the student council and in some committees of the faculty. I would like to get involved in the FSV to continue to improve teaching and especially to support the social events of the student council, I am especially looking forward to the first Erstwoche after Corona.

3. Pia Carina Pickmann (Mechanical Engineering)
Hey guys! My name is Pia Carina and I am in the final stages of my bachelor studies. Last year I was already a member of the student council and worked for you students. Before that, I took care of the freshers’ week and everything around it as a freshers’ representative. I would be happy to have your vote again this year.

4. Karl Hammer (Mechanical Engineering Bachelor)
Hey. Here are 5 reasons why YOU should vote for me! 1. i am the hammer; 2. my favorite color is #cc071e; 3. i want change; 4. i own two hennings; 5. now you know me and that should be worth your vote!

5. Ronja Sommer (Mechanical Engineering Bachelor)
Hi! My name is Ronja and I have been active in the student council for 5 semesters now. For the year 2021/2022 I have already been in the student council (FSV) for you. In addition, I have been active on a few committees, helped out at events, and assisted with the move of the student council. In the future, I would like to continue to represent your interests as part of the FSV.

6. Paul Ziche (Mechanical Engineering Bachelor)
Hi everyone, I’m Paul, mechanical engineering student and veteran student council member. After two years of Corona lockdown, I’d like to bring my experience and knowledge of events to the student council so that big parties and insane sporting events can pick up right where they left off. More beer at the Maschiparty! More fat at the FSVV! More atmosphere at the Unicup! That’s what I stand for with my name.

7. Matthias Friedrich Wirth (Mechanical Engineering Bachelor)
Servus, my name is Matthias, but I am known as Fritz in the student council. I also fall into the category of mechanical engineering students in their 10th semester. After two years of council work, I held the position of vice president of the FSV last term. I enjoyed representing the student council and would like to be elected to the FSV again this year with your vote to pass on my experience.

8. Florian Berthold (CES Bachelor)
Moin Maschis, I’m Florian and I study CES, but actually you only know me as “FloB”. In the meantime, I’ve already been through a lot, from self-administration in the dormitory association, various committees at the faculty, two years in the student council and last year I was already in the FSV for you! In this sense I would like to pass on my experiences of the last years to the new members of our student council and support them with words and deeds. I am looking forward to your support!

9. Elif Carman (Wirt.-Ing.-MB Bachelor)
Hi, hardly anyone reads this anyway. But if you read this and want to vote for me, you can. I am a very good candidate.

10. Victor Isenberg (Mechanical Engineering Bachelor)
My name is Victor and I am currently in my fourth semester of mechanical engineering. For the last two semesters I have been the teaching assistant for mechanical engineering and I am active in committees to improve teaching. I want to continue this in the FSV in the future.

11. Carolin Bast (Mechanical Engineering Bachelor)
Hello everybody, I’m Caro and I study mechanical engineering in the 8th semester. I have been a member of the student council and in some committees of the faculty. I would also like to be your contact person in the student council for queer topics and plan great events for you.
12. Niklas Teßmann (Mechanical Engineering Bachelor)
Moin moin, Niklas my name! Since 3 semesters I am working in the committees of the faculty to improve our study conditions. I would now like to extend my commitment to the FSV!

Ow Hur! I’m Jon and I’m graduating soon with a degree in Mechanical Engineering. I have been the executive director/spokesperson for the student council and have also been on the student council for a few years. So this year, for the second time, I would like to continue supporting the student council as a member of the FSV.

14. Andrea Tenhonsel (Industrial Engineering Bachelor)
Hello, I’m Andrea and I’m studying industrial engineering mechanical engineering in my 2nd semester. I have a wide range of interests and have already been able to pick up a lot in my short time in the student council. Since I would like to continue to get involved and bring in a breath of fresh air, I would be happy to have your vote!

15. Lisa Giesbert (Mechanical Engineering Bachelor)
Hi there dear ones. I’m Lisa, a mechanical engineering student in my fourth semester. Last year I was active in the student council as an event coordinator. For the upcoming time I would like to be part of the student council to pass on my gained experience and learned knowledge and to support the future Ratis.

16. Felix Hennig (Mechanical Engineering Bachelor)
Moin, I am Felix and have been active in the student council for 2 years. I have already been involved in teaching as well as in events and as a speaker. I would like to pass on the knowledge I have gained here as a member of the FSV and thus continue to get involved!

17. Kübra Cinar (Mechanical Engineering Bachelor)
Hi everyone, I’m Kübra and I’ve been involved in the student council for a few semesters. In addition, I am active in faculty-wide and university-wide committees, such as the Faculty Council and Senate. Now I would like to contribute my experience to the FSV for you!

18. Maximilian Wunderlich (Wirt.-Ing.-MB Bachelor)
Hi Maschis, I’m Max and I was president of the FSV last year and have been on the council twice. I would like to use my gained experience to stand up for you in the student council again this year. So vote Max!

19. Xiaoyi Zheng (CES Bachelor)
Good afternoon, I am Xiaoyi (aka Kuki) and I am studying CES. I am currently involved in student council and committee work. I would like to join FSV soon and would do my best. Thanks for voting!

20. Sabrina Salinthon Brasch (Mechanical Engineering Bachelor)
Hey! I’m Sabrina and I study mechanical engineering in the 6th semester. One year I took care of the public relations of the student council and did some designs. One year FSV I have behind me and I also want to help coming with my experience and serve with cute Henning (our penguin mascot) designs! I am looking forward to your vote.

21. Henning
Hi, I’m Henning and since the freshman rally 2007 I’m the official mascot of the mechanical engineering student council. Unfortunately you can’t vote for me, but I’m here for you anyway! You can find me in the penguin enclosure of the Aachen Zoo. In groups I am always the second from the left;)

Panel Discussion

As in the past, the candidates on the lists of the student parliament will be asked questions this year. Instead of a panel discussion, however, a ‘hail of questions’ is planned under the moderation of the university radio. The interviews will be recorded and then made available on the election website. In addition, this year the lists and student councils have the opportunity to publish a short video for self-presentation on the election website.

Past Meetings

On it’s website you can find past motions and decisions of the Student Parliament. For some of the meetings (mostly older once) protocols have been published. They might help you to find out who held which views in past parliament discussions. Please note that this information is only available in German. https://www.stud.rwth-aachen.de/

Vote Count and Results

After the last election day on Friday, June 24th, 2022, the counting occurs on June 25th, 2022. It’s public. You can follow the counting progress on site or live at https://asta.ac/wahl. Afterwards you can find the provisional official final result in detailed form online: https://asta.ac/wahl
The vote count of the elections for the academic self-administration takes place on the Monday after the election week. The results will be available online soon afterwards. https://www.rwth-aachen.de/wahlamt
